

My Achievements

Remembering and celebrating your achievements, no matter how big or small can help you to increase your self-confidence. Employers love to hear about the things you have achieved in your application and during your interview. Answer the questions in the table below:

What is your biggest achievement?
Why do you consider this to be your biggest achievement?
What barriers did you have to overcome to achieve this?
List 2 other achievements that you are proud of: